Kinetic in ELC

Epicor Learning

It's exciting times for Epicor as our Manufacturing customers, partners, and employees move to Kinetic 2021.1 and our new Epicor Design System. Evolving alongside the product are our customer's learning opportunities and experiences, as well as our internal positioning and messaging. It's critical we all know what's available and how to encourage our customers to consume the vast amounts of training and resources available to them at their fingertips. Take a moment to check out this video and read the FAQ!

ISV Content in Epicor Learning Center

You asked, we listened! We are working with our ISV Partners to secure and training for their products into Epicor Learning Center. We have recently added content for the following products, but know that this is an ongoing project, with the library growing each month. Each product will have its own catalog category, allowing you to quick find courses, many also have role-based agendas enabling you to quickly assign the right content to team members, and then track their progress!

- Precise: Advanced Project Management
- Insight Software: Spreadsheet Server
- DS Panel: Epicor Financial Planner

Help is Available!

We have added Help with Guided Learning and Articles to Epicor Learning Center. Click the ? in the upper right corner to display the Help Content Launcher and explore topics! We will also be using this to add Shout Outs to showcase new features, and to guide people through common tasks.

Certification Updates

We have launched an Application Studio Foundations Certification. Please take the time to complete all recommended training before attempting this exam. We are also converting all existing Core Certifications to represent Kinetic 2021.1; expect new Kinetic 2021.1 Exam Guides and Exams by August. Remember that exams are learning applied and always test to the latest release. We cannot emphasize enough the importance of training and system usage in preparation for these exams. We see a direct correlation between those who complete the recommended training and their Exam passing rates, conversely those with repeated failures usually show no activity on any recommended courses.

We look forward to seeing you online!
